Believe in the Future

For more than 25 years, the Mobile Area Chamber of Commerce has led our region's economic development efforts with impressive and undeniable results. Partners for Growth, Believe in the Future, the latest in a strong series of development campaigns, brings together a powerful coalition of public and private investors who believe in Mobile's future, who build on its past triumphs, and who work to keep Mobile moving forward.

Our economic development efforts have a strategic direction backed by funding from 160-plus business leaders, the City of Mobile and Mobile County, and led by a competent and dedicated professional staff. Mobile's team approach is widely considered "best practice" by peers and professionals nationwide, and these efforts have garnered repeated top rankings from national and global publications and site selectors.

Most importantly, the Mobile Area Chamber's economic development campaigns have delivered significant return on investment by creating and retaining jobs, elevating incomes and salaries and diversifying our economic base.

Since 2006, the Mobile Area Chamber's Partners for Growth initiative has recruited 42 new businesses and assisted with 86 expansions at existing companies. These efforts resulted in $8.5 billion in capital investment and more than 17,400 jobs with an average annual salary of $49,998.

Mobile captured the global business spotlight recently when Airbus selected the Port City for its only assembly site in the western hemisphere. Construction is underway on this $600 million project, and the first deliveries are expected in 2016.

The $5.2 billion ThyssenKrupp Steel USA and Outokumpu Stainless USA plants are operating north of Mobile. On the waterfront, Austal USA has expanded to more than 4,000 employees working on military contracts of $5.1 billion. These are just a few of the results generated by the Mobile Area Chamber's economic development efforts.

Partners for Growth, Believe in the Future, a five-year (2013-2017), $10-million economic development program, is lifting the Mobile area's position as a top location for job growth and quality living to new heights. By continuing the momentum, our communities will share a bright future of growth and prosperity.

Partners for Growth, Believe in the Future has set two main five-year goals:

- Create 4,000 new jobs with average annual wage of $40,000.
- Attract new and expansion project capital investment of $1.5 billion.

In the following pages you will find a directory of the Partners for Growth Investors who make our economic development efforts possible. It is our hope you will give them every consideration when seeking products and services in the Mobile area.

Arkema's Axis plant manufactures products based on three primary chemistries: acrylic polymer, thio chemicals, and organo tins. Acrylic polymers are additives used to improve the properties (impact modifiers) and processing (process aids) of a wide variety of plastic items. Impact modifiers are used to improve the strength of PVC pipe, siding, fence, decking and trim, while process aids improve the productivity, quality and cost of producing an even wider group of products including PVC film, sheet, bottles, and packaging. Thio chemicals are also used to make heat stabilizers for vinyl products. Additionally they are used as active ingredients in permanent wave solutions, hair removers, and as corrosion inhibitors in the oil and gas industry.

Olin's relationship with the South Alabama community began more than 60 years ago. We were first attracted by an unusual geographical feature -- a giant underground salt dome. Because salt is one of the essential elements in our manufacturing process, Olin Chlor Alkali built a plant here, and operations started in 1952. More than 300 people come to work at Olin McIntosh every day. Olin spends more than $85 million a year with all sorts of local businesses, purchasing goods and services that support more than 300 local jobs. Olin generates another $1.5 million in annual taxes—taxes that go to schools, to community services and development, and to those in need.
